charges Italy plans immediately here today simultaneously with receipt from Rome of Premier Mussolini's reported rejection of volunteers at a tri-partite conference with Great Britain and France.The charges, promptly and vehemently denied by Italian officialdom, were made by the loyalist Spanish embassy here in a note addressed to the British foreign office.

An "unprecedented campaign of provocation" is about to begin, the note charged, and went on to assert it will include poison gas attacks on Spanish cities and the use of Italian submarines "flying the government flag" to assault the Balearic islands.Chamberlain Praises Roosevelt.

in the tangled Spanish situation came on the heels of Prime Minister not a legal holiday anywhere on the face of the earth, as far as researchers have been able to find.

Clark Kinnaird, author of Today is the Day, states.If people believed implicitly in signs, those who have been using the new thoroughfare through the old Rosena Furnace grounds, which was donated to the city as a street by the Pennsylvania Power Com-

the block. At the Mill street entrance to the road is a sign which says: "No Thoroughfare." At the South Jefferson street entrance
there is a big sign which reads:
"Private Property. No Trespassing."
The use of these grounds without a permit is forbidden.Out from dark Africa came an this street will soon be ready for use.

On several other streets in the

Between the hero and the dum, between the failure and success, there is but little difference, the line is very thin I guess. A pass is same. A shortened step, a tiny

Expect Decision In Black Case Monday

Supreme Court In Conference

Expect Eight Justices To Make Decision On Challenges On Black Today

ACTION MAY NOT END CONTROVERSY

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The supreme court, with two attacks on the right of Justice Hugo L. Black to hold a place on it, met today in a final secret conference preparatory to its decision day Monday.

Eight justices of the high court, who temporarily hold the fate of Justice Black, one-time member of the Ku Klux Klan, are expected to reach a final decision on the challenges today.

Expect Decision Monday

The court Monday is expected to announce whether or not it will assume jurisdiction in the motions of Albert Levitt, former special assistant attorney-general, and Patrick Henry Kelly, Boston lawyer, attacking the justice's legal right to his seat.

The high court's action on Monday, however, may not end the controversy over President Roosevelt's first appointee to the high tribunal. If the court grants the motions it is expected to issue an order to Justice Black to show cause why he should retain his seat. The justice then would file a return, possibly to be followed by oral arguments.

Should the high court deny the motions, lawyers appearing before the court in cases in the future can still raise the question of his eligibility. At least one firm of lawyers, it is known, is debating whether it will challenge him.

On its first decision day of the new term the court also will hand down orders in at least 250 cases.

CHURCH WILL OBSERVE 15TH ANNIVERSARY

emphatic mass will be celebrated. No doubt the church will be filled to capacity. Rev. Fr. L. Koblakowski of Pittsburgh will serve as deacon and the Rev. Fr. C. Kobylarz of Pittsburgh will serve as sub-deacon. The Rev. Fr. Stanciewicz will deliver an appropriate sermon.

To Bless Convent.
The musical program arranged by Miss Marie A. Dutkiewicz, church music director, will be among the features of the services. Following mass, the new St. Philip and James convent, 1709 Hanna street, will be blessed. The convent, located across the street from the church, is a beautiful two-story structure elaborately furnished. Incidentally, Sisters of the Holy Ghost have been maintained by the congregation for the past 12 years. This in itself is quite a distinction for the parish of the church. The jubilee chasuble will also be blessed during the 10:30 mass.

Services All Day.
Throughout the day there will be adoration of the Blessed Sacrament. At 3 o'clock, Rosary, Litany and devotion by all school children. At 7:30 o'clock, thanksgiving services will be conducted. The Very Rev. M. Drelak of Pittsburgh will be celebrant. The Rev. Fr. I. Krymski of Braddock, Pa., will be deacon and the Rev. Fr. F. Szudarek of Cleveland will be sub-deacon. Sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Msgr. M. Orzechowski of Cleveland, Ohio.

During the services a memorial picture of Our Madonna, sent by the Most Rev. Bishop T. Kubina of Czenstochowa, Poland, will be blessed. The music arranged for the affair by Miss Dutkiewicz will be appropriate. A chorus of 250 voices made up of the young men's choir and altar boys, a special chorus consisting of the alumnae of the church and another chorus of 150 children of the parish will furnish special music.

The music offered will be that of Tozer, Rossini, Gregorian and Polish traditional hymns, and in strict accordance with the regulations of the diocesan music commission of Pittsburgh. Sisters of the church have decorated the church most attractively. The beautiful church has been cleverly arranged with a profusion of late summer flowers and palms.

The observance is being staged under the auspices of the church committee, which includes John Janca, Joseph Kwolek, Frank Kwolek, W. Spawinski, Frank Chrobak, G. Orliowski, A. Belzick and Stef Janca.

Fifteen years ago, St. Philip and James ranked among the smallest organizations. Today the congregation is composed of 1800 persons. As the congregation grew, so did the church. Today the parishers have an exceptionally beautiful church, a parochial school with a student body of 300 boys and girls, a rectory elaborately arranged, a large garage, a parish hall seating 300, a beautiful convent, the home of sisters of the Holy Ghost and a cemetery at Welington.

The rise of the congregation has been continuous and rapid, reflecting credit in the direction of the Rev. Fr. V. Stanciewicz, one of New Castle's leading clergymen, who is held in high esteem throughout the county.

EXPERTS AGREE FIGHTING ABILITY SEEMS OVER-RATED

the support of a score of naval vessels plus several hundred field guns, tanks and a fleet of air bombers which have been cruising all day without hindrance.

The difference of opinion regarding Japanese military ability clearly divided those who have personally observed Japanese behavior on the spot and those who at home judge the question in the light of Japanese historical achievements.

Experts See Poor Gunnery
It is pointed out here that Japan never fought a first-class power, while today, although she is able to make considerable progress in North China against provincial Chinese troops, here at Shanghai against the best Chinese troops she is stymied.

Foreign, including American, experts, are especially impressed by the shockingly poor quality of Japanese gunners, both land and naval.

For more than two months Japan has poured shells in the general direction of the North Station buildings from all her warships and from a couple of hundred field guns, but not a single building there has been knocked down. Hundreds of dwellings in the neighborhood, however, have been destroyed.

This encourages naval experts of foreign powers, who observe that, no matter how big the Japanese navy is, if its gunnery is no good, then it is no good.

Members of the New Castle Exchange club will gather in the Elks club, North Mill street, Monday evening at 5:45 o'clock, for their weekly meeting.

Right now nature is showing herself as a master at color blending, trees, rocks, fields and the waters are aglow with indescribable tints that you will carry with you through the long months to come, and why not while these fall days are with us, go out and enjoy these fine things by walking among the falling leaves where the acorns are dropping out of the oaks. Watch the birds gather where it is quiet and enjoy their antics caused by the migration urge. The great outburst at this time offers a music that is pleasing to hear, and if you are quiet you can hear its slow musical undertones. Try to find time this fall to enjoy a part of this fine season. Your spirits will be revived, fancies and imaginations will come to you in these pleasing surroundings. The first of our winter birds, have arrived; the Juncos, the birds that cheer up the winter woods. I have often watched these birds drop out of trees when it was snowing hard and sing with a mild and spiritual expression.

OWEN PENFIELD FOX

The first real killing frost of the year occurred during the night when the mercury in the government thermometer at the water plant went down to 30 degrees, two degrees below the freezing point. Most tender vegetation was killed off by the frost, it was not the damage would probably have been more severe except that it clouded up about daylight.

New Castle residents may have an opportunity of seeing a real honest-to-goodness black widow spider, the kind which are reported to have caused several deaths in California this summer from their bite. It is a jet black color, with red spots down the center of the back, and a spot on the abdomen, under which is the distinguishing mark of this peculiar species. The spider was caught about a month ago by Mrs. Ralph Hay, of English avenue, at her home. It has been identified by biologists at Slippery Rock State College as a black widow.

Lawrence county fruit growers who have vineyards, and others who merely have a few grape vines, report that the crop is exceedingly good this fall. Grapes were favored by the wet weather during the summer and are big, fat and juicy. Grapes are one crop on which there is usually very little loss. If the market is dull you can always turn them into grape juice or jam.

It is well to observe stop signs at all road intersections, but it is particularly wise at Parktown corners, which the state motor police watch very carefully. The stop signs are on the road coming from Edenburg, and the one leading from West Washington street. Several motorists have been caught driving through these signs recently.

We hear a lot about taxes, local, state and national, and the whole idea seems to get more and more taxes. People who pay the taxes do a lot of kicking. If some one would suggest a law that would make contented taxpayers it would prove a great boon to the human race.

Need for some sort of regulation of parking in the city parking lot at the foot of Mercer street is seen. This morning approximately 150 cars were parked in the area and it was almost impossible for a single car to get through the carway. Cochran Way was completely blocked off by the parkers.

call for peace," pledged Britain's "wholehearted cooperation" and expressed the hope Italy would agree to the tri-partite conference as a means of restoring neutrality in Spain.

The Italian embassy lost no time in branding the Spanish note as a "bombastic, absurd statement," but the fact remained that all indications pointed to flat Italian rejection of the tri-partite parley idea, throwing the volunteer question back into the lap of the non-intervention committee.

Meanwhile, Britain was ready to place her vast armament industry, now working on the country's $7,500,000,000 rearmament program, at the disposal of Spain unless Italy stops aiding the insurgents.

France, it was reported, is ready for even more speedy and positive action. Unless definite assurances are given that Rome will cease aiding the Spanish rebels, France will open her Spanish frontier and supplies of men, planes and munitions will flow into Spain from France and Soviet Russia.

CITIZENS ANSWER CHEST CALL

"I do, too. If citizens realized how much it saves, if they thought of the worth of the agencies, you'd have real cooperation."

Agencies' Leaders Rally
At the Castleton last night the first pre-drive rally brought together prominent community leaders who came in their capacity as board members of the nine different Chest agencies to hear Mrs. Johnson, Mr. Hanlon and A. L. Bantz, Jr., president of the Chest organization, present the campaign plans.

The spirit was excellent and Mrs. Johnson's assertion that "we will show them that New Castle can put over its own campaign" set off a roar of applause. The directors know that, first of all, the Chest is their responsibility and they're leading the drive this year.

Mrs. Johnson called upon a number of community leaders at the close of the formal session to comment on the plans which had been presented. All voiced full approval. All agency presidents were there and they, too, gave quick approval to the plans.

Last night's session was called partly to acquaint the boards of the campaign set and partly to set in motion the campaign machinery as well. The machine, it can be said, moved smoothly.

On Monday at noon in the First Christian church the Advanced Gifts section of the drive will hold its first luncheon rally. Later in the week the teams of the drive, now being organized, will meet and then on Monday, October 18 the general solicitation will open in earnest.

tions at the start of the hostilities and that Japan made every effort to settle the incident locally.

China's concentration of troops in Shanghai, however, provoked the Japanese, the statement said.

Therefore, Japan contended she broke no pact. The statement also disclaimed any territorial ambitions but said Nippon wants China to drop all anti-Japanese sentiment and to operate peacefully with the land of the rising sun.

In specific terms, the Japanese reply declared the American state department's charges revealed an "unfortunate lack of understanding" of Japan's actions which it contended have contravened no existing treaties. The statement accused China of violating the Kellogg-Briand anti-war pact.

Commenting on President Roosevelt's Chicago speech, the American charges and the Japanese reply, the newspaper Nichi Nichi stated: "President Roosevelt is treading a thorny path fraught with dangers and haunted by the departed spirit of the late Woodrow Wilson."

CORRECTION
Due to an oversight in Friday's advertisement of the Robins Furniture Co., a dependable, new style living room suite carried a price of $99.00 instead of $95.00. Also, the item of choice styles in mirrors, featured at $3.98, should have read $3.48.

Deaths of the Day

Frank Bennett.
Frank Bennett, aged 98 years, a Civil War veteran and member of a pioneer Lawrence county family, died at his home in Greenville at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Mr. Bennett was born in New Castle, son of Silas and Catherine Bennett, 98 years ago on the 13th of this month. The original Bennett homestead was on Court street directly across from the sheriff's office and later the family lived on Pittsburgh (Washington) street where the Harmony station is now located. At that time Silas Bennett also owned the property on the Diamond now occupied by the Pennsylvania Power Company.

Frank Bennett went to the Civil War from New Castle, served valiantly and received three medals from the government. He was captured by the enemy and was confined for some length of time in Anderson prison.

He was a Mason and a member of the G. A. R. Although he had been away from New Castle for years he frequently returned for visits as long as his strength permitted. His last visit was about seven years ago and he evinced great interest in going again to his boyhood haunts—especially the old swimming hole at the paper mill and the old stone quarry on Ray street.

Among the people he visited at that time was Miss Alma Locke, Miss Locke's father, Bennett Locke, and Mr. Bennett were cousins.

His wife preceded him in death. Surviving are two sisters, Miss May Bennett of Greenville, formerly of New Castle, and Mrs. Ada Wade of Bartow, Fla., who was here this summer for the Reynolds school reunion. Mr. Bennett was the oldest brother of the late Charlie Bennett of national league baseball fame.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home in Greenville, 70 Shengango street.

John S. McKay.

John S. McKay, aged 65 years, of Thompson, O., member of one of New Castle's old families, died in the Marine hospital at Cleveland this morning at 1 o'clock after undergoing treatment for six weeks past.

Mr. McKay was born in New Castle, Feb. 14, 1872, and lived here until a few years ago. He was a member of the Spanish-American war, a member of Company B, 16th regiment. When in New Castle he was a member of the First Presbyterian church, a number of clubs and organizations. He was a man of many friends and news of his passing is received here with regret.

His wife, Rose Cutler McKay, four children, Albert, Howard and Helen McKay and Mrs. Alice Hoffman, survive, as do three sisters, Mrs. Albert Yohe, Mrs. Lottie Maitland and Mrs. Howard Mayall, all of New Castle, and one brother, A. S. McKay of St. Cloud, Fla.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 o'clock in the residence at Thompson and interment will be made in a cemetery at Painesville.

Funeral Of Mrs. Boenish.

Services for the late Mrs. Olive M. Boenish were conducted at the residence on Neshannock avenue Friday afternoon with Dr. C. B. Winger, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, in charge. A great many beautiful flowers had been sent to the home in memory of the deceased.

Pallbearers were Leroy McCurdy, Norman Hatfield, William Barber, James Lewis, Julius Boenish and Vernon Bright. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Services For Mr. Fleming.

Funeral services for Clarence E. Fleming were conducted Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home of his sister, Mrs. D. C. Seamans, 312 Edgewood avenue, with Rev. J. Calvin Rose, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, in charge.

Interment was made in Castle View Burial Park. The pallbearers were D. C. Seamans, R. E. Fleming, Donald Fleming, William Jarvis, Carl Meyers and Ed. Hennon.

Funeral Of Mrs. Lusk.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Jane Lusk were conducted this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of her son, Albert C. Lusk, 112 West Leasur avenue, with Rev. H. A. McCurdy, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church, in charge. Interment was made in New Castle cemetery, Leesburg. Pallbearers were Paul Lusk, Clarence Lusk, Floyd Lusk, Fred Lusk, John Kyle and Walter Armstrong.

James G. McClelland.

James G. McClelland, aged 86 years, of 1023 Dewey avenue, died in the Jameson Memorial hospital this morning at ten minutes after 8 o'clock. He had been in a serious condition for about three weeks.

Mr. McClelland was born in Armstrong county on November 12, 1849, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus McClelland. The larger part of his life was passed in Lawrence county where he had a host of friends among young and old alike. He was affectionately known by many as "Uncle Jimmie."

He was a member of the Croton Avenue M. E. church and the F. P. A.

Surviving are two sons, John J. McClelland of Oklahoma and Harry McClelland of Portersville, eleven grandchildren, thirteen great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his first wife, Elvira Covert McClelland, and by his second wife, Hannah Harris McClelland, a daughter, Mrs. Effie Hunter died on September 25 this year.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. in the Jos. S. Rice Co. Chapel with Rev. Joseph A. Cousins, D. D., pastor of the Croton Avenue M. E. church, in charge. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

WORTMAN-HURT BALTIMORE WEDDING

In solemn simplicity, Miss Ruth Wortman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wortman, of New Bedford, became the bride of Allen Hurt, son of Mrs. Ethel Hurt, of Baltimore, on Monday, October 4, at 9:30 o'clock at the McDonough Chapel near Baltimore. Rev. Jensen was the officiant using the single ring ceremony.

Miss Wortman was attired in beige and soft shades of brown and carried a ring bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. She chose as her only attendant, Miss Helen Halquist, a close friend, of Baltimore, who wore dark green with brown accessories.

John Mason, a friend of the groom, served as best man.

Following a wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Hurt left for an extended motor trip to the south. They expect to spend several days with the bride's parents in New Bedford before returning to Baltimore, where they will make their home at 1911 East 31st street.

Mrs. Hurt, a graduate of the local high school and of the Youngstown hospital training school, has been on the staff of the Sheppard and Enoch Pratt hospital, in Towson, Md.

Mr. Hurt, a graduate of McDonough school, is employed with the Eastern Rolling Mill Company, of Baltimore.

SENIOR HADASSAH BOARD MEMBERS MEET

The opening board meeting of New Castle Chapter of Senior Hadassah for the year 1937-38 was held at the home of Mrs. L. F. Kohn on East Moody avenue Thursday evening, October 7, when business of interest was transacted.

Mrs. Kohn was elected as one of the delegates to Hadassah's Silver Jubilee Convention, at the Hotel Chelsea, Atlantic City, slated for October 27-31.

This particular convention will bring to a climax, a series of celebrations that began last March to mark the Silver Jubilee of the founding of Hadassah. A special feature of the convention will be the presence of some of the founders of Hadassah who organized the group at a meeting in the vestry room of the old Temple, Emanu-El, New York, on Purim, 1912. It is planned to have the initial Hadassah meeting re-produced at the convention.

The business part of the board meeting, was turned over to Mrs. R. Rubenson, membership chairman. The chairman announced the launching of a membership campaign which will terminate in a membership tea on Wednesday, October 20.

The local Hadassah members, had the good fortune of securing as guest speaker for the evening, Miss Miriam Ephraim, director of activities. She has the honor of having recently been elected National Director of Jewish Social Service Workers of this country.

At the close of the meeting tempting refreshments were served by the hostess.

Section A Plans Party

A Halloween party in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Elsie Phillips, Maryland avenue, was planned Thursday at a meeting of Section A of the Third U. P. church in the home of Mrs. O. L. Rose, Beckford street.

Mr. John Alexander conducted the business session at the meeting and Mrs. Manley Bates led the group in worship. Quilting was enjoyed and the hostess served a nice lunch.

PRELUDE TO WHAT?

BOTH in America and in Europe the speech of President Roosevelt at Chicago is regarded as the definition of an attitude which, if it is to have substance and meaning, must be followed shortly by the formulation of a program.

The mere delivery of this speech, even without action or the threat of action, has already produced two clearly manifest results. One is an aroused hatred in Germany, Italy and Japan, which have been the instigators of the undeclared warfare and the slaughter of civilians so vigorously denounced by the president. In addition, it has given new moral strength and encouragement to those nations that have been striving to confine the incendiaryism to the affected areas.

It is insufficient, however, that the aggressor nations be incensed and antagonized and that "the peace-loving nations" be given a word of sympathy. These accomplishments will not save the civilization of the world, will not restore significance and repute to such terms as international law, the sanctity of treaties and morality among nations.

Through what means does the president intend to implement his declared purpose of opposition to "those violations of treaties and those ignorings of humane instincts which today are creating a state of international anarchy and instability from which there is no escape through mere isolation of neutrality?"

HONORING A PIONEER

Christopher Columbus was the first American pioneer, because he set in motion the waves of immigration to these shores. It is fitting that the anniversary of the day on which Columbus first saw the shores of San Salvador in 1492 be observed as a holiday.

Others would have discovered America had Columbus not done so in 1492, but whether this would have resulted in settlement by different peoples, or a slower rate of development, is conjecture. Most Americans like the country as it is, except for the politicians, and are glad that Columbus made it.

If there are too many national holidays and it is but a matter of time until there will have to be a wholesale weeding out of unnecessary and silly celebrations if any work is to be accomplished, Columbus Day should be one of the last to be abolished. On this day is celebrated the most important event in American history.

THOSE WAR DEBTS

For years and years, Finland has been the only country that has seen fit to pay off its war debts to the United States. Out of the dismal swamp of Europe, where loans are speedily converted into guns and poison gas, there has been only one bright spot as far as we are concerned. Little Finland, who is more anxious to utilize any funds she possesses toward culture and repayment of obligations, has never failed to send her dues back to where they came.

And now Hungary, no longer the great and magnificent Hungary of pre-war days, but a small nation hemmed in and besieged by the growling Fascist states, has also shown an inclination of paying her debts to us. It is true that the payments are not large enough to stagger the treasury, but they will serve as a practical acknowledgement of a long-standing obligation. The first payment is to be made on December 15, and will amount to $19,656, which is not a great deal, but which is considerably more than a lot of other European countries have done.

Finland's procedure has been consistent and is indicative of her willingness to meet her just obligations, but what of Hungary's course? Is she seeking to concrete her friendly relations with the United States in order that she may have financial support in the event that some country decides to declare war on her? A movement at this time of restlessness, when the world seems to be going mad, to pay off a fraction of the debts has the ring of enigma. What's behind it?

TRADE PACTS AND AMERICAN WAGES

Secretary Hull has always insisted that the reciprocal trade agreements he has been so busily negotiating with other countries should be appraised, to a considerable extent, on the basis of their breaking down of obstacles to the free flow of commerce and therefore on their presumable contribution to world peace.

But when they threaten a potential or actual injury to any American industry through the lowering of tariff bars, protests by those who may be affected are entirely proper. In the negotiation of these agreements the State Department recently abandoned its policy of snap action and now serves advance notice to interested businesses and industries so that they may present their views as to the necessity or advisability of changes in tariff duties.

A reciprocal trade arrangement with Czechoslovakia is now under consideration. It is well known that American manufacturers of certain lines of shoes have been undergoing stiff competition from that country, where wages and standards of living are much lower than here.

A protest by some thousands of employees of a New York factory against further weakening of the already inadequate tariff protection has been characterized by Mr. Hull as "propaganda."

Secretary Hull promises however, full hearings to American manufacturers before concluding the proposed agreement with Czechoslovakia.

It is well to remember that American wage-earners have an equal stake in these trade agreements that have for their laudable purpose the opening of foreign markets for our goods. In seeking to achieve this object the necessity for maintaining American standards of wages and living through adequate tariff protection must be clearly recognized.

The Japanese are very much dissatisfied with the way the Chinese army is behaving. Contrary to expectations, it has refused to be a pushover.

If our official economists run trueto form, we will now proceed to spend $50,000 in anticipation of the $19,656 which Hungary is expected to pay on her debt.

Mussolini took along twelve uniforms for the German war games, but Grant and Sherman, judging by their wartime pictures, only had two pairs of pants between them.

EUROPE CARES FOR BABIES

My wife and I spent 20 days in Russia during the summer of 1936. We were impressed with the public provisions for the care of mothers and young children. All expectant mothers, as also do all other persons in Russia, have free medical care. Those mothers who work, and most mothers in Russia work, have 56 days' leave of absence with pay before, and 56 days immediately after, the child's birth. There is a nursery to care for the infant at the factory and the mother has time off with pay for nursing the child. On the subway there is a special car for expectant mothers and mothers with young children. My wife and I entered one by mistake—we could not qualify. Near where the trolley car conductor stands, there is a section reserved for like purpose.

In Moscow, we attended the central institute for care of mother and child, unequaled by anything of its kind we have seen anywhere. Showing the expectant mother how to dress comfortably, eat proper food and clothes and toys for the infant and runabout. The highly educated, charming woman in charge, after explaining the exhibits and their functions, added, frankly: "Of course our program for mothers and children also has a defense angle. The government wishes to make the bearing and rearing of children attractive" (for more soldiers).

Whereas birth control, and even abortion, were publicly encouraged in Russia up to recent years, both now are discouraged.

Potion For Mother

While we were in Russia there appeared in the Moscow Daily News, the only English newspaper in Russia, several articles prepared by the medical experts of the government, announcing a potion for the mother when the child is to be born, in order to render child bearing "painless and safe", with an especial appeal to the peasant mother of Russia who might not have a doctor on hand.

Some people may say that the Soviet Union does all this because it lives in dread of Germany and Japan—but the consideration given to motherhood lends itself to study in our own country.

THE APPLE DAYS I KNEW

DAYS LIKE these when the leaves are falling from the apple trees and winter is just around the corner of the sky I fall to thinking of my small-boy days in an apple country.

I remember the big orchards and the yellow Bellefleurs and the red Missouri Pippins and the nut-flavored Newtons and the crunchy White Winter Permaines. I remember the big wagons and the six-horse teams and the huge loads of apples coming up to the platforms of the warehouses.

I smell the pungent pine shook and I hear the tap-tap-tap of the boxmakers and I see the piles of new-made boxes climbing high behind the box-maker's bench. I hear the trucks rolling across the floor and I see girls coming to work in the early morning. I see them standing over the boxes of apples sorting them. Putting the culls there the choice here and the fan-cies into still another box. I follow the culls in memory and see the deft Chinese peeling them by machinery and spreading them on trays and I choke with the smell of the sulphur again as the trays are rolled into the sulphur house before they are dried. I follow the peelings and other culls to the cider and vinegar works and I drink fresh cider straight from the press and get the rumbling of the vinegar-making machinery turning over and over all night long.

Back I go to the packing house and watch the clever fellow pasting labels on the ends of boxes one hundred at a time; and then I drift over to the part of the plant where the aristocrats of the apple workers wrap and pack, wrap and pack, slappety-slap, all day long—smoothly and deftly and tirelessly—and I see the bottoms of the perfectly packed boxes nailed on and I tag behind the trucks to the platform where the spur track is and the cars wait to be loaded. And I do not leave until at least one car is loaded and the two-by-four bracing is in and a railroad man comes along and seals the car with a little lead tag and it's on its way to the markets of the world.

Days like these I want to sink my teeth once more into a crisp yellow apple—and days like these I fall to wondering why all life cannot be as complete and as busy and as clean as that apple business I knew so much about when I was a kid.

Judge Frank H. Norcross said at a Reno dinner party

"The young are too romantic about marriage. They consider it a kind of rhapsody or poem."

"Oh, I'm so worried," a girl said to her mother. "Bill is so absurdly fond of me. Fancy, he swears that when we're married, he won't allow me out of his sight."

"Don't worry about that," said the mother. "Worry about how much he is going to allow you out of his salary."

SHE DIDN'T BELONG HERE

The manager of a hotel, in New York City, suggested that his wife pose as a stranger and ask questions of some of the help he employed. So she asked the doorman where a good meal could be obtained in the neighborhood. He politely directed her to a competing restaurant with no mention of the three in the hotel.

When called to account for this by the manager (who said nothing about the inquirer being his wife), the doorman said, "But sir, if you had seen the lady you would agree that she simply didn't belong here."

ENFORCE THE LAW

The comment oftentimes made by those people who oppose capital punishment and hard labor for criminals is that neither is a deterrent.

This argument may be sound so far as incurable criminals are concerned, but Thomas Dixon Carver, the distinguished sociologist points out that criminal laws are on the books, not for the good of those who insist on violating them, but for the good of society.

Society includes the millions of normal citizens who never go against the law. They don't steal, cheat, embezzle, defraud, or kill. One reason—and perhaps the chief reason—why they don't is that they don't like the prospect of being hanged or spending from one to twenty years in the penitentiary.

When society ceases to enforce its laws, or when judges and juries become excessively lenient, a certain part of the population begins to look on professional crime as a paying proposition. We had an example of this in prohibition days. Thousands engaged in professional crime because that kind of law-breaking was profitable. Lax detective work and inadequate laws brought us an epidemic of kidnapping. Nobody will ever know how many women have slain their husbands or lovers simply because they figured that they could count on sentimental juries to free them.

Why do we behave because it pays to behave. When the time comes that crime pays, civilization will be in a sorry state.

It is said that in Washington, D. C., people live in the most wretched places and in cramped quarters on account of the scarcity of houses. Some are even still using oil lamps. Those people are right in the shadow of the place where humanity is being looked after so carefully.

We are getting to be controlled about everything. Crops will be controlled, working hours and pay will be controlled and about everything else will be controlled and probably by poor controllers. And this is still the great America! A lot of those foreigners in Europe may not even want to come here.

It is said that no movie players have ever been kidnapped. Some have been killed, however.

A gentleman: A man that's clean inside and outside, who neither looks up to the rich nor down on the poor; who can lose without squealing; who can win without bragging; considerate to women, children and old people; who is too brave to lie; too generous to cheat; and too sensible to loaf; who takes his share of the world's goods and let other people have theirs—this is the ideal conception of a true gentleman.

The World At A Glance

Liberals Discard Earle.
Losing Ground In Many Circles.
Compare Cost Of Material And Labor.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

LIBERALS ARE casting Governor George Earle of Pennsylvania overboard. They accuse him of showing Fascistic tendencies.

They cite as evidence his present efforts to do away with paroles and indeterminate sentences. Many of the liberals term that as going back to the "dark ages" in penology.

Further evidence given is the suppression of films on Spain in Pennsylvania presumably because they favored the Loyalist side.

The governor apparently will not get liberal or CIO support for the 1940 Democratic presidential nomination, said to be his fond hope. That support is tending more and more toward Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin—who, incidentally, is a Progressive, not a Democrat, even though a New Dealer.

If, however, the Democratic party insists upon nominating a "reactionary", the Liberal-Labor coalition will swing in behind President Roosevelt for a third term. It is taken for granted that he has no desire to, and actually may spurn the nomination—unless it looks as if both parties will nominate men who would "liquidate" the New Deal.

Labor counts Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan as anti-labor, anti-New Deal, and if it becomes apparent that the Republicans will nominate him, and that the Democratic conservatives will not nominate a New Dealer adherent to the Liberal-Labor coalition will swing heavily behind F. D. R. once more.

A FALLACY? Assertions that labor costs are raising prices exorbitantly are not borne out in an investigation made by the Alexander Hamilton Institute.

The cost of labor during the first six months of 1937 was only 7.1 per cent above the 1936 level and 14.3 per cent above the 1932 level," says the Institute's report.

While "the cost of raw materials was 10.2 per cent higher than in 1936 and 59.9 per cent higher than in 1932."

The report adds that "there now is evidence that rise in manufacturing costs has been halted and that at least a temporary recession is in the making."

But "increased profits are not in prospect since the outlook is for a reduction in the volume of output as the result of previous overproduction and a recession in future buying power."

THE "AMATEUR"

The Football Season is on! "Amateur" tennis players travel far and wide in the summer. "Amateur" golf players decided their sectional and national champions. Now the "Amateur" football players are going to play to enormous houses.

It would be interesting to know from what source "Amateur" tennis players and golf players derive the money which enables them to devote their entire life, practically, to the games they play and yet to maintain an "Amateur" standing. The player must not receive any money whatsoever in connection with the game.

It was not so many years ago that the National Golf Association deprived Francis Ouimet of his "Amateur" rank, because, forsooth, he worked in a store selling athletic goods and Charles "Chick" Evans was investigated pretty thoroughly because, forsooth, he sold life insurance to members of golf clubs, and was suspected of taking pay for assisting in the laying out of golf courses, and all of this notwithstanding the National Tennis Association and the National Golf Association benefited very largely by the paid attendance at tennis matches and golf matches.

TODAY Is The Day

Copyright 1937 Central Press By CLARK KINNAIRD

SATURDAY, OCT. 9.

Once Upon Oct. 9—Women went to work on an equality with male employees of the United States government for the first time, 75 years ago today.

Secretary of the Treasury Salmon Portland Chase (whose picture is upon your $10,000 bill), reluctantly gave permission to F. E. Spinner, treasurer of the U. S., to try a woman as a cutter and trimmer of currency. The work was then done by hand by men who spoiled a lot of currency with their clumsiness, with shears, and Spinner had an idea that deft women could do the work better.

Jennie Douglas got the test award. Jennie's first day women took a long stride toward emancipation, for her work caused other women to be hired.

On Other Oct. 9th.—1776—First settlement was made on the site of San Francisco, by two Franciscan monks who established a mission and called it San Francisco de Asis.

1829—Samuel Robert Cathrop was born in Roxbury, Mass. When he was 36 years old, and a Unitarian clergyman in Boston, he proposed the first streamlining of trains and other vehicles to reduce wind-resistance and took out patents on designs. He was 50 years ahead of his time; it was half a century before engineers could see the advantage of streamlining.

1871—The great Chicago fire raged. In three days 2,000 buildings were destroyed, and $200,000,000 damage done, but loss of life was smaller than in a forest fire which licked through the Northwest at the same time. It's time that Mrs. O'Leary's cow was vindicated, and here's the truth: Bossy was milked at 5 p. m. and no lantern was used. The fire started in the O'Leary barn because some young people of the neighborhood, who stole into the hay fort for Sunday night beer-drinking and misconduct, were careless with their smokes.

1890—Aimee McPherson, frequently-married evangelist, was born. Another birthday today: Charles Rudolph Walgreen, b. 1873, Illinois farmboy who became a leading retail drug-chain-store owner.

1934—First mention of the attachment of the Prince of Wales and Mrs. Wallis Simpson was made in a newspaper, in the New York American by Society-Reporter Cholly Knickerbocker.

DAY. On Other Oct. 10th.—1811—Capt. Nicholas Roosevelt (an ancestor of the President), inventor of paddle-wheel propulsion, took his paddle-wheel steamboat, New Orleans, out of Pittsburgh and down the Ohio to 10 miles an hour, bound for New Orleans. It was the first steamboat to navigate the Mississippi, and its voyage served the further purpose of getting the coal industry started in the Mississippi valley; for in preparation for his trip, Roosevelt had arranged for coal mines to be opened at various places along the river.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service) NEW YORK—U. S. Senator Gerald P. Nye advocates that the neutrality act be invoked in the far east.

"There can be no objection to any hand our government may take which strives to bring peace to the world so long as that hand does not let 130,000,000 people into another death march."

SALAMANCA, Spain—Lieut. Harold E. Dahl, who escaped a death sentence when reprieved by rebel Generalissimo Franco, wired him: "No words can possibly tell my whole-hearted gratefulness and appreciation for your clemency."

WASHINGTON—John D. Biggers, outlining how a census of the unemployed will be taken:

"Of course a hobo under a freight car who keeps rolling while the census is going on will be hard to reach."

Loyalty Services At Epworth Church

Week Of Services Opening Sunday At M. E. Church On East Side

The official board and church school council of Epworth M. E. church in cooperation with the minister Harold A. McCurdy, have out-lined a week of Loyalty Services touching different branches of church activities to which they are inviting the serious participation of all members.

Sunday morning, October 10 is rally day in the church school.

At 11 o'clock, Dr. A. C. Locke, guest preacher, will bring a stirring message on the responsibilities of a Christian church.

Monday evening, October 11, the official members and their wives will meet for a tureen supper at 6:15 p. m. after which they will seriously face some challenges for the new year.

Tuesday evening is designated for a consideration of religious education. The service will be called at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium. A program of music has been arranged by the East Side Civic orchestra, Don Potter, leader, after which Rev. McCurdy will speak on "Sharpening Our Religious Focus."

Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m., Dr. Theodor E. Colley, superintendent of the Grove City district of the Methodist Episcopal church will speak on "The Place of Christ in the Program of the Church."

Thursday evening is devoted to a consideration of young people in the church but our older people are urged to show their sympathetic concern by securing the attendance of their young people and by themselves attending the public services.

At 7:30 a program of devotions will be conducted by young people after which Rev. Charles Hagadorn, of the Mahoning M. E. church will bring a message. A social hour will follow.

Services for the following week to be announced later.

Adult Rally At Central Church Sunday Afternoon

The Central Presbyterian church, on the Diamond, New Castle, will be the adult rally and conference church tomorrow Sunday afternoon, October 10, at 2:30. This is under the auspices of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association.

County Attorney Superintendent Attorney Clarence A. Patterson will preside, and Robert Duff in charge of music of the conference church. The speaker for the morning will be the Rev. Chester T. R. Yates, pastor of the Third United Presby-terian church. Rev. Yates has just recently returned from Europe and the holy land and will give 1937 glimpses of Palestine. Every minister is interested in Palestine for both its past and present history and will profit from hearing Rev. Yates.

First Methodists Planning To Honor Their New Minister

On next Tuesday evening a public reception will be tendered Rev. William W. McLean and family by the board of trustees and membership of the First Methodist Epis-copal church, North and Jefferson streets.

The newly-appointed pastor is lo-cated in the First church parsonage on Clemmore boulevard and has taken up his duties as minister of the large congregation. A number of committees have been appointed and are at work on plans to wel-come the new leader. Rev. McLean comes to New Castle from Titus-ville, Pa.

East Brook U. P. And Neshannock Church Services

The pastor of the East Brook U. P. church, Rev. Robert Douglas, will bring the second in a series entitled, "Sin and Its Counterpart Salvation." The theme for the regular hour Sunday, October 10, is "What Salvation Can Do For Us."

The Y. P. C. U. and Intermediates will meet in the evening at 7:30 o'clock. The pastor will have charge of services at Neshannock U. P. with morning worship at 9:45, and Sun-day school at 11. Neighbors and friends of Neshannock please notice there will be no community service this Sunday evening due to a con-flicting service at Liberty Grange.

Rev. Turner Will Be Heard Again In New Sermon Series

Rev. Boston W. Turner will deliver another in a series of sermons on "The Judgments in the Bible" Sun-day evening at the First Pentecostal church.

His sermon last Sunday on "How God Judges Sin," was a thoughtful and most enlightening presentation, and tomorrow night's message on "The Origin of the Devil," promises to be equally interesting. He will answer such questions as "Did God create the devil?" and "If the Devil is responsible for all the sins, why doesn't God do away with him?"

First Baptists Plan Rally Day

Look For Crowd Of 850 At Rally Day Celebration Sunday Morning

Another of the local churches to observe Rally Day tomorrow will be the First Baptist.

The general opening program will be at 9:30 a. m. when all the classes of the Sunday school will meet in the auditorium. Chorister D. S. Williams will lead them in singing. At 9:35 a. m. the guest speaker, Rev. Robert Perry, Ph. D., will be introduced. Young Dr. Perry, who recently completed his studies abroad, has been heard at a num-ber of New Castle gatherings and always has something interesting to say. Officers and teachers of the Baptist Sunday school are expecting an attendance of 850.

Many postcard invitations have been mailed to members and an open invitation has been extended enthusiastically to all persons who have been members of the school in former years.

Drake Tabernacle Special Meetings

New Castle Speakers Will Be Heard At No. 2 Mine Oc-tober 11 To 24

Beginning Monday October 11, and continuing through Sunday, October 24, every night except Sat-urday, special services will be con-ducted in the Drake Gospel Taber-nacle, Christian and Missionary Al-liance, at No. 2 Mine, of which Earl Walker is pastor.

Mrs. J. H. Boon, of New Castle, a speaker of ability, will speak dur-ing the first week of services. Rev. A. T. Williams and Rev. Richard Owey, also from New Castle, will be heard in the second week.

The meetings will afford an op-portunity for the people of Drake Tabernacle to hear all three of these excellent speakers.

Minister's Meeting On Monday Morning

The regular meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association will be held in the First Presbyterian church on Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Rev. John J. McIlvaine, the new president, will preside and during the business session will appoint the committees for the year, namely: program, law and order, and library. The speaker for the morning will be the Rev. Chester T. R. Yates, pastor of the Third United Presby-terian church. Rev. Yates has just recently returned from Europe and the holy land and will give 1937 glimpses of Palestine. Every minister is interested in Palestine for both its past and present history and will profit from hearing Rev. Yates.

Homecoming And Rally Day Plans

Plans are now under way for a Rally Day Home-Coming of former and present members of the First Congregational church on East Reynolds street.

The date has been set as Sunday, October 31. Special music will fea-ture all the services throughout the day. Starting with Sunday school, the primary department will pre-sent a variety program. Several classes of adults will take part in the morning and evening sessions. Invitations are being issued to out of town people who were formerly members of the church and large delegations are expected to visit the old home church.

Rev. Rees T. Williams will preach short appropriate sermons at both morning and evening services. Provision will be made for trans-portion for all aged and infirm who will desire to be present.

the public concerning alleged pay of college football players. The college authorities in the South last year came out flatfootedly with the argu-ment that a college football player was entitled to certain pay. Some Northern colleges have ceased to compete on the football fields to cause those in authority believe that college football is becoming a scan-dal. There does not seem to be any definite information, however, as to the emolument received by any particular player for his football abilities, but where there is so much smoke, there must be some fire.

Anyway, as a sidelight upon the situation: A certain great "Amateur" football player last year was ob-served by his friends to be rather cast down. The team was winning. There was nothing wrong with him. He was playing a good game, but he was very much in the "dumps."

"What's wrong with you?" said one of his players.

Backyard Days Are Recounted

McIntyre Believes Children
Of Today Are Missing
Much Of Life

OLD BARN WERE ALSO ENCHANTING

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—To my notion no book has the power to roll back the years like Mark Twain's "Tom Sawyer." After putting it down last evening I spent a pleasant hour in the honeyed oblivion of Boyville. Back in the days when the back yard, kitchen stoop and old barn seemed especially hallowed.

Not many children of this generation, even in the small towns, know the simple charm of a back yard. Today there are playgrounds, where frolic is regimented and lacking abandon. Also there are the movies. All tending to make the back yard seem run down at heel and tacky.

But for another generation the back yard was boys' domain, where we fought Indians, searched for pirate gold, played baseball, gave our circus and pin shows. Back yards kept boys off the streets. We only appeared on the front porch, all scrubbed and shining, after sundown.

There was a lure about the touselled back yard with its ash pile, coal shed and chicken runway that years cannot dim. It was a cloister for looking sad when it appeared as though we might not get to go to the circus. Where we mooned when the only girl gave us the mitten.

There was something enchanting, too, about the aromatic old barn, especially the hay mow, where most of us—of all places—got dizzied up with our first cigaret. The hay mow could in an instant become a robber's den, a haunted house or a fort behind which we resisted the attack of outlaws. Sometimes in climbing the ladder to the loft, the barn became a sailing ship, and, holding to the spar, we rode through mountainous waves, shouting order to sailors against the boom.

Every boy goes through the performing period, following the visit of the circus. One of my specialties was the slack wire, stretched from the walnut tree to the high fence. I mastered it, that is to the extent of walking forward and backward, kneeling and crawling through a hoop. But not without suffering a series of jumpy falls, any one of which today would trundle me, feet up, to a hospital.

My greatest proficiency, however, was trick bicycle riding. So proficient I came nearly making it a career. A repertoire show made an offer. I was to appear in the olio and double in the orchestra. But mandolin playing was my only musical accomplishment and that balked the deal—that and grandma's threat to give me a dose of her famous "birch tea." But I immediately subscribed for the New York Dramatic Mirror and watched the "Wanted—On Tour" Column.

I never see a juggler, Indian club swinger or artist of the flying trapeze and horizontal bars without reflecting that most of them—save those from the circus families—are products of the back yard pin shows. W. C. Fields, Joe Cook, etc., are alumni. And it would surprise how many stars of the stage and screen had their genesis in the penny parlor show.

Boys in our neighborhood were known as the Court Street gang. First to go bare-foot and last to don shoes. Our summer costumes consisted of a 25-cent shirt, blue denim pants and a ten-cent straw hat. Boys, even back in the hollow, do not dress that way today. I am told that going barefoot is almost a lost custom. That's too bad. Going barefoot should be a part of a boy's heritage.

Th' ol' swimmin' hole, too, is mostly memory. But I am one of the die-hards who does not believe the 20th century sanitized swimming pool is comparable to the thrills of that mirror-like pool, shaded by the mighty oak, under the creek bank. There we shucked our clothes as quick as a wink and plunged au naturel. Sometimes a twin constable would appear on the brow of the hill and, grabbing our clothes, we would scamper through a neighboring cornfield, dressing on the run. Pausing after a time to catch our breath and perhaps raid a nearby watermelon patch. It would be difficult to make the modern boy in his Eton jacket, with all his flossy gadgets, including a stumpy roadster, believe those were the good old days. Perhaps they were not, but we still have a hunch they were.

Fire Prevention Week Nears End

Fire Chief McIlwain Issues
Final Precautions In Regard To Safety

With Fire Prevention Week drawing to a close, Fire Chief A. P. McIlwain today issued a warning to residents of New Castle to be on their guard against fires in the homes and to prevent them by taking precautions to guard against destructive loss of life and property.

"Two-thirds of all fire deaths in this country occur in homes, and fully three-fourths of these victims are trapped in upper floors of houses. This is due to the fact that the usual frame construction of buildings not only is of a combustible type, but permits the flames to be drawn up from the cellar through hollow walls and stairways. This is especially dangerous because the majority of dwelling fires start in the basement."

"This fact is so important," Chief McIlwain continued, "that I want to suggest a remedy. A ceiling of cement on metal lath, extending from each foundation in the cellar, and a door of solid construction at the head of the cellar steps will confine most fires to their point of origin."

An additional remedy is to install fire stops of incombustible material in the walls at each floor level.

"Fire usually starts through some act of carelessness, or because someone was not informed about a common fire hazard. It is most necessary to play safe with fires. The best way to do this is for each householder to appoint himself fire inspector for his own home. A guide for making such inspections may be obtained from the National Board of Fire Underwriters at 85 John St., New York City."

Revoke Licenses Of Many Dealers

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 9.—Liquor law violators today felt the first effects of a new drive of the liquor control board as 18 licenses were revoked and 16 suspended.

The action was the first to be taken in a concerted drive to rid the commonwealth of licensees who are selling to minors, violating hours and other restrictions.

The board has sought action against 257 licensees so far and "more are being added daily."

"These decisions can be taken as an indication that we are not compromising with bad licensed conditions in this commonwealth," the board said.

Ancient Blacksmith Shop Makes Way For Auto After Long Battle

One of the last strongholds of the horse drawn era has capitulated to the motor age. After nearly eighty years of service to the horse, the Marquis blacksmith shop in Apple Alley is to be torn down.

The spot where thousands of horses have been shod gives way for parking for the horse's successor.

William Marquis, the proprietor, has occupied the building for 47 years, working at his trade of blacksmith. At one time before gasoline fumes reeked through the streets, six smithies were employed in the shop. In those days the alley and South street echoed to the roar of the bellows, the musical clang of the hammer on the anvil and the whinnying of horses as they had their new shoes tried on.

Prior to Mr. Marquis' occupancy it was a blacksmith shop for 28 years under other management. Long before the Civil War the blacksmith shop was an established business. Lawrence county horses that went out to cope with the Stuart and the other rebel cavalrymen got new shoes at the shop before they went south.

Sleek, trim legged race horses, brawny Belgians and Percherons, grocery store horses, beer truck horses, dray horses, all of them passed through the shop and the horse smell inside seems to carry a visitor back to the days when a blacksmith shop was the center of gossip, the source of all information and a good place to loaf.

An accumulation of years was found in the corners of the shop. One old picture, that of Company B, 16th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry was found. In the center of the picture is Captain Joseph V. Cunningham. Mr. Marquis has presented the picture to Troop F and it will hang in the new Joseph V. Cunningham Armory for one of the company shown in the picture came the origin of present cavalry unit.

Rare old books were found there. A complete set of Pilgrim's Progress dated 1840 was found. A picture of Rev. D. C. Marquis, one time president of the McCormick Theological Seminary was found. Rev. Marquis, a relative of William Marquis, is the minister who married Billy Sunday and his wife.

Old fashioned pictures and old fashioned books, entirely in keeping with the old blacksmith shop, are almost everywhere in the shop. The success of the Populist party, the early history of prohibition, sparks flying upward as a brawny smith converted metal into shoes, gentlemen with dundreary whisks and frock coats debating the merits of Maud S. of Dan Patch, and the other fast horses of the day.

There's a touch of pity as the old blacksmith shop makes way for a parking lot. But clean hoofs have given way to stream lined bodies and full floating rear axles, curvy combs have been replaced by tire wrenches, and soon the spot will be covered with cars that once housed horses waiting for their turn at the smith's hands.

Meadville Fire Fighters Peeved

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—Boys of the Meadville fire department were "plenty sore" today.

After traveling 350 miles from Crawford county at an expense of $1,100 to march in the annual State Firemen's parade, they saw the $75 prize for the company coming the longest distance to the Liberty outfit from McKeesport, 275 miles from here.

The Meadville visitors were further enraged when the judges declared they weren't even in the parade. Chief Carman suggested the judges have their eyes examined. "We wuz robbed," chorused the Meadville fire fighters.

Rev. Hagadorn's pulpit will be filled by Rev. J. A. Cousins, new pastor at the Croton Avenue Methodist church. Rev. Cousins will deliver the morning sermon for the congregation of the ward church Sunday.

Ida Cribbs Home Day will be observed on Sunday at the Mahoning Methodist church, with a special program dealing with the home being presented.

Bible Class Has Meeting Friday

Mrs. Gertrude Marshall, North Cedar street, delightfully entertained members of the S. C. W. Bible class Friday evening when they gathered in her home to honor one of the members.

The honoree was Mrs. Mary Thoman, who plans to leave next Tuesday for Florida, where she will spend the winter with relatives.

Class members presented Mrs. Thoman with a gift of remembrance during the party. As this was not the regular meeting no business session was held, but instead a program of entertainment was enjoyed by the members.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Marshall, aided by Mrs. W. C. Patterson, Mrs. Harry Morrison, Mrs. A. A. Maud and Miss Evelyn Marshall.

Plans were made to hold the next meeting on Thursday evening, October 14, in the home of Mrs. E. C. Hulbert, West Madison avenue, in the form of a Halloween party.

Hulbert To Receive Gold Medal Award At Convention

E. C. Hulbert, of 201 West Madison avenue, has been an officer and teacher of Sunday schools continuously for 53 years, and will be awarded the 50 year gold medal that is presented to those acquiring this honor and distinction by a fund left by the late John Wanamaker.

Mr. Hulbert will be presented with this medal on Friday of next week at the morning session of the state convention in Hershey. Mr. Hulbert is a member of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian Sunday school.

He started as a teacher in Cleveland, O., in 1884, and has since been an officer or teacher in Presbyterian Sunday schools of Pittsburgh, Uniontown, returning to Pittsburgh and then Wampum and New Castle.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor, and Arthur H. Walker, superintendent, of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, will have charge of the services Sunday.

Sunday school will be held at 9:45 o'clock with Superintendent Walker in charge. Morning worship service will be at 11 o'clock with Rev. Schnebly using the topic, "A Glorious Church," for his sermon. Parents may present their children for baptism at the morning service.

At 2:30 o'clock the Junior Christian Endeavor Society will hold a meeting in the church.

Senior Christian Endeavor will meet at 7 o'clock. At 7:45 o'clock Rev. Schnebly will deliver the evening sermon to be based on the topic, "Honoring God."

CO-HOSTESSES FOR MCCOY BIBLE CLASS

Mrs. Merle C. Adams and Mrs. Jack Walters were delightful co-hostesses Friday evening to members of the McCoy Bible class of the Mahoning Methodist church, when they gathered in the Adams home on Madison avenue.

A short business session, under the direction of the vice-president, Mrs. W. E. Weitz, was conducted. Plans were made for the annual apple butter making, to be held sometime this month.

Lunch was served later by the two hostesses, who invited their guests to a cleverly decorated table, with Halloween colors being used in the scheme.

ENDEAVOR GROUP AT JONES HOME

Under the direction of Walter Evans, president, members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Madison Avenue Christian church held a delightful social and business meeting Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. E. M. Jones, Mount Jackson road.

During the business meeting plans were made to conduct an attendance race in the society, to bring out the old members, and secure newcomers for the church.

Mr. Jones, aided by her two daughters, Delphine and Myrtice, later served a delicious luncheon. Next meeting will be in the form of a Halloween party with the place to be announced later.

County Commissioners have conferred with state senator, William Eroe to see if something cannot be done that will eliminate much of the work which has been necessary in the counting of the primary ballot on account of the writing in of names of candidates on the ballot. It is realized that it will be hard to prevent electors from writing in names, but another method of approach has been suggested. That would be to eliminate the filing fee of candidates for minor township, borough and ward offices. Such members of election boards. There is no doubt but that resentment against the paying of a fee was responsible for the lack of candidates in many districts. It is believed that if they were permitted to file free for these offices, and the county committees would show some activity in seeing that tickets are placed in the field, it would eliminate much of the "writing in" evil.

Several of the cases scheduled for trial at the coming session of common pleas court are reported to have been settled. These include the following: Lena Martella and Henry Martella against Jack Thornhill. This was an automobile damage case for an accident at Ellwood City. Martha H. Smith against Clarence M. Cotton and Helen McCormick against the same defendant. There were cases in which the defendant had charged the plaintiffs with trespass before a justice of the peace in Ohio. They were discharged for lack of evidence, and then brought suit against Cotton for the inconvenience and humiliation caused.

Expenses paid from the poor fund during the month of September totaled $14,348.25, according to figures prepared by County Controller Frank Hill. ## New Castle Defeats Washington High 13-12

EXCITING BATTLE WON BY LOCALS, ROUSSOS KICKS

New Castle High Registers Fourth Class AA Victory; Drive In Final Period Puts Game In Bag; Weber And Ross Cause Plenty Of Trouble For New Castle; Very Clean Game; Crowd Of About 8,000 Sits In On Exciting Contest; Sovesky And Lauro Score For New Castle.

The Army and Navy football teams usually furnish the gridiron classic each year, but last night at Taggart Stadium, the fans who braved a rather chilly evening watched a football game that had all the earmarks of an all-star attraction. We refer of course to the 13 to 12 victory that the New Castle High "Red Hurricane" scored over a truly fine Washington High team.

Not for quite some time have two high school grid machines played a better, cleaner and harder game than New Castle and Washington did last night. There were very few penalties. There was a genuine display of sportsmanship. There was an exhibition of real footballing if ever we saw a football game. Eddie Sovesky and Lindy Lauro did the scoring for the Castles. Weber was the man responsible for both of the Washington scores. And what a player this Weber had is—oomp, he runs like a gazelle, and had the power of ten-ton truck.

Great Ball Carrying

Both teams flashed offensive power to no end—in the opening period New Castle received the kickoff and before the Washington team had time to dig their cleats into the greensward of Taggart arena, the Bridenbaughmen had the ball over the goal line. What we mean, New Castle really showed an offensive attack that clicked to perfection. The drive started on the New Castle 40-yard line where Micaletti was downed after taking the opening kickoff from Ross, and New Castle never gave up the ball in the entire campaign that ended only by "Lindy" Lauro, the big seventh Ward boy slipping over from about the 1-yard line. New Castle had three lucky breaks in the drive, they fumbled twice and recovered and Washington drew a penalty for roughing the kicker.

Then just to show the fans that they too had an offensive attack, the Washingtons elected to receive the kickoff this time, and did those boys from down Washington way tear down that field. Ross, Weber and Porter did the ball lugging and in six plays the Washingtons made 47 yards. The drive began on the Washington 40, and at the end of the first period Ross slipped up to the New Castle 3-yard line.

Game Tied Up

Well, the second period wasn't more than a few seconds old, until good for a 20-yard gain to the Washington 16-yard line. Eddie Sovesky bumped through to the 3-yard line on two plays and then took it over on a powerful drive.

Roussos Comes Through

And here is where the "mele-drama" came in—Socrates Roussos the boy who plays a lot of right tackle for the New Castle "Canes" had to step out there with about 16,000 eyes watching him, and try to boot the hog-hide over the cross bars for the point that would put New Castle ahead. A tough spot, boys and girls for anybody. Well, it seems as if this boy Socrates has ice-water in his veins. He was the coolest person in the arena. Back came the ball and Roussos shoved his big size 12's into the football hard enough to bust it wide open—the ball started off fine, but a sudden gust of wind got it, and just by inches, mind you just by inches the ball missed the upright and was declared good, and the New Castle stands went into spasms of joy, while in the Washington stands somebody dropped a pin and they heard it three blocks away.

New Castle Leads

Well, it was a different ball game now. New Castle 13—Washington 12. About half-way in the fourth stanza. Anything could happen yet. Roussos kicked off to Ross and he was stopped for almost no gain. New Castle's fighting spirit was intensified. Weber tried the line and was stopped. Ross made three yards. Ross finally got tired of lugging the ball and kicked to Sovesky on the New Castle 25-yard mark.

Ray Micaletti reeled off a beauty of a run for about 16 yards to the New Castle 41-yard line, for a first stanza. Dombroski after two plays scored his second touchdown to take the lead at 12 to 6 when Weber took a pass from Ross and raced over the goal line from the New Castle 13-yard line. It was a very lovely pass and taken gracefully by Mrs. Weber's boy. Again Ross tried for an extra point, but it was blocked.

Ross kicked off to New Castle this time. New Castle executed a very nice triple lateral pass of the razzle-dazzle variety with Lauro throwing to Carey, who tossed it out to Ray Micaletti. This netted New Castle quite a few yards, to be exact 25 or so and put the ball on the Washington 40-yard mark. Ross intercepted a pass from Lauro and the New Castle drive ended. Weber banged through to the New Castle 38-yard line. Ross made a first down on the New Castle 29-yard line. A pass failed. Ross booted the ball and here New Castle got another break. The ball stopped right smack dab on the goal line. A Washington player went to ground the ball and it was shoved over the goal line. It was given to New Castle out on the 20-yard line.

Razzle Dazzle Starts

Eddie Sovesky and Micaletti ran the ball in three plays and it was New Castle first down on the Washington 47-yard line as the third period ended. It was Washington 12 and New Castle 6.

At the start of the fourth and final period it was apparent that New Castle would open up the old razzle-dazzle bag again and they did. Sovesky raced to the Washington 36-yard line for a first down. Then Lauro tossed one to Sovesky who shot it out to Nocera and it was

Wabash Bears At Youngstown

Coach "Blackie" Adams will take his Wabash Bears football team of the Seventh Ward to Youngstown, O., on Sunday for a game with the strong, Youngstown Owls.

The game will either be played at Evans Field or Oakland Field it is not known for sure. They are close together. Coach Adams will have his strongest possible lineup available for the game.

Lee Piccutta one of the regulars is out with a fractured knee. For games with the Bears call at 25 N. Liberty street. Several former high school stars are in the Bears lineup.

Pearson Hurls Great Game As Yanks Win 5-1

American League Team Needs But One More Victory To Take Championship

HAL SCHUMACHER IS NOT EFFECTIVE

By DAVIS J. WALSH

International News Service Sports Editor

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Oct. 9.—With the merciless thoroughness of a machine, the New York Yankees rolled over the supine helpless forms of the New York Giants for the third straight time in the world series Friday, 5 to 1, the Yanks giving Hal Schumacher's pitching a consistent leathering for the six innings he lasted. Meantime, Monte Pearson snuffed out the Giant attack as completely as did Lefty Gomez and Red Ruffing in the first two games.

He began to blow with two out in the ninth, so they brought on John Murphy to dispose of Danning for the final out with the bases filled. Pearson, retiring the Giants to five hits throughout, was practically perfect until he lost control in the ninth.

No Game Sunday, On West Side

It was announced by Business Manager Frank Heasley today of the Ryantown team that there would not be a Ryantown-West Side Cardinal game Sunday. The Cardinals, according to Mr. Heasley, have declined to play the seventh and deciding game of the west side series.

The series now stands at three games apiece. Ryantown was very anxious to play Sunday, and the fans will be disappointed.

Keystones Will Battle Fannins

The Keystone A. C. football team, coached by Louis Leonard and Dudy Perrett, will play a practice game on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with the strong Fannin team at Centennial field.

All of the Keys are asked to meet at the club rooms at 1:30 o'clock to make the trip to Centennial field. A large crowd will no doubt see these teams in action.

West Pittsburg At Bessemer For Game On Sunday

What will probably be the final baseball game in these parts this year will be played Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Bessemer field. West Pittsburg, the city league champs, will battle the county league champions.

If Bessemer loses the first game they will play a second game at 3:30 o'clock, but if Bessemer wins the first set, the series will be over. Dick Nord will pitch the first game against Brakovich.

Bessemer Trips Evans City 27-0

Score Four Touchdowns In Game Friday Afternoon At Bessemer Field

Bessemer High school football turned on the heat yesterday afternoon at Bessemer High field and defeated a doughty Evans City team 27 to 0. Shoup, Calderaro, Notareschi and Galena made the Bessemer markers.

The Bessemers scored in the first period when in two plays after the kickoff Notareschi scored over the goal line. DiLullo got the opening kickoff and red 40 yards before he was downed. The first period ended 6 to 0.

Bessemer Leads 13 to 0

In the second stanza Notareschi took the ball up to the two-yard line after a series of plays and Shoup bumped it over. Shoup also booted the extra-point and it was 13 to 0. Bessemer at the end of the first half.

Galena carried it over from the 25-yard line in the third period to give Bessemer 20 points as Shoup again kicked the extra-point. In the fourth period a pass Pelt to Calderaro gave Bessemer the fourth touchdown. Shoup again converted the point.

The stars in the Bessemer lineup were—Notareschi, Shoup, DiLullo, Skoicic and Hribar.

Next Friday afternoon Bessemer High will go to Shenango High for their annual battle.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Dr. W. D. McClelland, commissioner of boxing for the western part of Pennsylvania, has suspended Promoter Elwood Rigby and Ray Fouts, manager of Teddy Yarosz.

The suspensions were the aftermath of the Conn-Yarosz fight at Duquesne Gardens, Pittsburgh, last week. It was alleged Fouts, in behalf of Yarosz, and Rigby had entered into a secret contract and one other than that file, with the commission. It was also alleged that Billy Conn had not yet been paid in full for his services. Unless, he is paid in full the commissioner has announced the sum coming to him will be taken from the bond presented by Rigby. If this occurs in this district, that such action has been taken.

Word received here says that Jimmie Dunn has moved his family to Los Angeles and intends to make that city his permanent home. His boxers have been receiving plenty of bouts along the Sunny Slope.

Mrs. E. L. Page, Greensboro, N. C. and Patty Berg, Minneapolis, will be the finalists today in the Women's National Golf championship play at Memphis. They beat Kathryn Hemphill, Columbia, S. C. and Mrs. Gregg Liffur, Pacific Palisades, Cal., respectively, in semi-final matches yesterday.

West Pittsburg and Bessemer, champions of the City and Lawrence leagues, respectively, will engage in a double-header at Bessemer Sunday. The first game will start at 1:30 p. m. The championship of the county is at stake.

Deer Dilemma Discussed By John Phillips

Defends Position Of Game Commission In Controversy Over Doe Season

DEER WERE ONCE ALMOST EXTINCT

Defense of the Pennsylvania Game Commission's position on the killing off of does for the best interests of deer hunting, is made by John M. Phillips, former president of the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

The Game Commission, a non-partisan organization composed of eight members, all of whom are hunters-naturalists, serves without remuneration, and is in touch with conditions the year around. Mr. Phillips asserts, while most of the hunters, spend only a week or two in the woods, and feel from this experience that they have a true picture of conditions.

They have not seen the emaciated deer and stunted fawns which have lived through a severe winter, when thousands of fawns have died from starvation, he states.

Deer Imported In 1905

When Mr. Phillips became a member of the Pennsylvania Game Commission in 1905, deer had almost been exterminated in the state. As a nucleus of a herd, 1,000 large deer were imported from other states. In order to build up the herd, the buck law was proposed, which allowed only the killing of bucks, with imposition of a fine of $100 for killing a doe or fawn. This law was strenuously opposed by the Hunters and Anglers Protective Association, alleged to have been composed of 70,000 experienced deer hunters.

The law was passed in 1907, not so much for the protection of does and fawns, as for hunters also as it forced the hunter to look for antlers before shooting at something moving in the woods. Deer hunters also opposed the law, saying that it was an outrage to slaughter the mothers and grandmothers of the herd. Sentimentalists joined in.

Changing their mode of play in the third period, the Scotland Lancers mixed up their offense, shooting first a line plunge, then an end run and followed this with a pass. The Lawrence Countians were goal line bound and nothing could stop them. After moving the oval to the two-yard stripe, Guinaugh rushed around end for the initial score. Jaskolka climaxed the rally by running over the goal line standing up for the extra marker.

The Mercer representatives were on the 40 yard mark and fumbled. From here, the Unionites again set sail towards the goal line. From the 10 yard marker, Smith, an exceptionally clever runner, zig zagged his way over the Mercer line for the final score.

In the final minutes of play, Mercer took possession of the ball and took to the air. Their rally ended on the Union 20. The entire Union club played heads up ball throughout. There were no stars just a group of hustling lads who cooperated on every play.

Next Friday afternoon, the game of games is scheduled for Union (Continued On Page Thirteen)

Massillon And Warren Winners In Grid Battles

Massillon high's Tigers last night gave the boys from the tall corn belt, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a neat lesson in footballing to the tune of 39 to 0. Bob Glass did all of the scoring for the Tigers.

Last year the Cedar Rapids boys won the city and state title, and had not been scored upon this year, but they didn't reckon with this man Glass. New Castle fans have a faint recollection of this Glass boy, too.

Warren high came back strong last night to defeat Youngstown South 13 to 0 at Warren.

Union Defeats Mercer Eleven

Game At Mercer Ends In Favor Of Scotland Lancers; Score, 13-0

GUINAUGH-SMITH TALLY TOUCHDOWNS

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Oct. 9.—After being held scoreless in the first half, eleven stalwart gridiron warriors flaunting the colors of Union township high school, fought valiantly to romp off the field with a starting 13-0 triumph over Mercer high, Friday afternoon at Mercer.

Throughout the first half the eleven found the going rather rough, neither being able to get in scoring position. The only real thrill of the initial half came in the second period when Union tried a pass. Rhodes collected the hog-hide in a powerful arms and raced 60 yards. Jaskolka, Union fullback, bringing him down with probably the most spectacular tackle of the game. This was as far as the home town lads reached.

Even the always dubious Mr. Joe McCarthy seemed to feel that this point was practically ordained, for he is not coming back with El McGooferly Gomez, his opening game winner, today. Instead, it will be a certain or uncertain Mr. Irving "Bump" Hadley, indicating that the Yanks feel they can win now with anybody. As a matter of fact, it is doubted whether they can lose with Lydia Pinkham playing shortstop, left handed.

Even the town has quit on the show, so empty and futile and downright foolish has it become. According to the official statements, there were only a little more than 37,000 paid admissions yesterday, and after that hilarious performance by the Giants then, it hardly seemed tenable that a better crowd would be back today.

Tense Moment When Roussos Made Kick

If New Castle wins the WPIAL championship this season, and it certainly must be considered for the honor, a movement should be started to raise funds to gold plate the right shoe of a young gentleman named Roussos who attends New Castle high school but who also plays right tackle on the football team.

For it was young Mr. Roussos' trusty right foot that shot a football between two poles Friday night at Taggart stadium, and that little kick, shot out from the sod like a trench mortar bomb that decided a game that called for a seidlitz powder at the finish.

Plenty of Oomph.
It required plenty of oomph to make that kick. It wasn't an ordinary kick. It was a kick that had about 6000 New Castle fans figuratively riding the leather all the way up, and another 1000 Washington fans just as figuratively pushing it away.

The game was nearing the close. If he made it the game was in the ice box. If he didn't the game was a 12-12 tie and both New Castle and Washington were tossed out into the cold backyard of the WPIAL championship considerations.

It was a load heavy enough for an adult to carry. Certainly it was a bit heavy for a high school youngster. There he was, a single figure in a world of tension, probably trying to swallow that lump and at the same time be in shape to boot it over the bars, the football net the lump.

Back floated the ball and the lad holding it placed it upright with the same care you would find down the crown jewels. And then ZING!

right on the button if a football has the ball was sliced a bit and it did but that slice cut the 12-12 tie right off at the neck and the game ended at 13-12.

New Castle defeated a good team last night, a very good team. Washington has a three and one backfield. Three ball carriers and a blocking quarter. Weber and Porter are running backs and the word running fits them perfectly. Ross is the plugging fullback and hits a line with all the finesse of a bull elephant upsetting a peanut stand. Big and rangy he runs with his knees high and his every man for himself when he starts through. For New Castle, Sovsky stood out like a boil on your nose. Offensively he had the Washingtonians dizzy as he snaked through the line. Defensively he was Old Man Rock of Gibraltar for all too many times the Washington backs pierced the primary defense only to run into Sovsky's arms. He played a ball game.

For color there were the two bands, and just in passing we'd like to say that the Washington band was the best drilled visiting band to parade Taggart field in some years. The drum major has an exaggerated goosestep and with every step he seemed trying to step over a ladder. It arms swung like a couple of flails and his chest was out so far that it cast a shadow. He had pep and zip and back of him were two young lasses who could induce any male youth to march in step.

New Castle's band still wore those old uniforms but there's a rumor the new ones will be in next week. They played what we hope was the farewell to those old uniforms but they played it mightily well.

Washington is one of New Castle's natural rivals. The rivalry is always keen, sometimes intense, but never anything but clean. As far as we are concerned they can be on the schedule for the next 74 years and it will be all right.

Ellwood High Loses Night Game Friday At Butler, Score 6-0

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 9.—Ellwood City high school's Wolverines second jaunt away from home and their first nocturnal game of the season was a disappointment to their supporters when they returned home on the short end of a 6-0 score, after putting up a grand battle, against a much heavier Butler high eleven, at Butler, last night.

Baffling spinners and long end runs from punt formation were the outstanding plays employed by Coach Regis Heinzer's Golden Tornado while Ellwood gained their ground principally through Butler's line.

Once again Ellwood City supporters greatly outnumbered the Butler following and a poorly arranged seating plan and unsystematized handling of the crowd made the visit far from ideal for Ellwood City people. Ideal football weather favored the players.

In the first and second quarters the Ellwoodians played excellent football and at the half, even though Butler had scored the game's only touchdown, it looked like anybody's game, with the Wolverines completely outplaying their opponents in the second quarter.

Butler Scores
Near the close of the first quarter, line plunges by Kramer, Penar and Novak and a spinner by Bosko placed the ball on Butler's one yard line. The Wolverine rallied and displayed surprising strength in barring the touchdown door in this quarter.

A beautiful punt by Koalch was received by Bosko and returned to his 34 and then Butler made a straight march of 34 yards toward their goal line, where a spinner by Penar was good for eleven yards and a touchdown, early in the second quarter. A line plunge try for the extra point failed.

After the touchdown the Wolverines rallied and with one exception kept the ball in their possession until the half ended when they had the ball on their own eleven. They gained 70 yards through scrimmage compared to Butler's 36 in this period.

The third and fourth quarters were uneventful, with both teams handling the ball but neither threatening to score. An aerial attack by the Butlerites that was expected to dazzle the visitors and their fans failed to materialize with Ellwood.

Statistics

Mrs. J. E. Caughey Pleasing Hostess
Initial Plans Made For Thanksgiving On Sunday, November 1

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 9.—When members of the Women's Missionary society of the Wurttemberg U. P. church assembled for their October meeting on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. J. E. Caughey in Wurttemberg, Sunday, November 7, was set as the date for the annual thank-offering service.

Miss Beatty, a missionary on furlough, will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Harry Fury was the leader of the meeting with the History of Thanksgiving as the subject.

On Thursday evening, November 4, the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fury at Wurttemberg, with Mrs. Laura Weller leader.

Joint Classes At Hart Home
ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 9.—Members of the Ever-Ready Brotherhood Bible classes of the North-Sewickley Presbyterian church were entertained in a delightful manner on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hart in Marion township for their combined October meeting.

Thirty members attended and enjoyed the evening very much with games and contests filling the hours. At a seasonable hour the group gathered about a glowing bonfire and partook of savory and appetizing roasted viandets and marshmallows. Arthur Forbush had charge of the arrangements.

Friday evening, November 19, marks the date of the next meeting.

SEVERAL CONTAGIOUS CASES
Several persons today were reported by the city health bureau with having a contagious illness. They are:

Julia Lichtenstein, 709 Monroe street; diphtheria.
Carol Halmorth, 7, 314 Englewood avenue; chickenpox.
Joan Johnston, 429½ Court street; whooping cough.
Jimmie Johnston, 429½ Court street; whooping cough.
Marjorie Hetrick, 14, 122 Gardner avenue; scarlet fever.

Philip Solomon Called By Death

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 9.—Philip Solomon, aged 79 years, died on Friday evening at 9:30 o'clock at the Ellwood City Hospital following an illness of several weeks.

He is survived by one son, John Solomon, of Freedom; one daughter, Mrs. Rosa Casher, of Yorkville, O., and a nephew, Ross Sudano, of 209 Hazel avenue, with whom he resided.

The body will be taken to the Sudan home where it will remain until time for funeral services Monday morning at 10 o'clock from the Italian B. V. M. church in Fourth St. Rev. Fr. Vincent Galliano will officiate. Interment will be made in the Locust Grove Cemetery.

Orange Lodge Has Nomination

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 9.—A nomination of officers was the principal business matter transacted by members of the Loyal Ladies Orange Lodge who held their regular meeting last evening in the First National Bank building with a good attendance of members.

Bingo was the diversion of the social hour with the prizes going to Mrs. Charles Gallagher and Mrs. Clara Ketter. Mrs. Louise Gregor and her committee served a tempting repast.

For the next meeting on Friday evening, October 22, a white elephant party was planned.

HOSPITAL NOTES
ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 9.—Discharged: Joseph Pifer, New Brighton; Mrs. Lester Shirk, Spring avenue; John W. Crea, Sixth street; and LeRoy Geary, Ellport.

Gravel Scandal May Be Revealed
(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., Oct. 9.—F. A. Griffith, discharged as district engineer in the state highways department in the so-called "gravel scandal" is meeting in Pittsburgh today with District Attorney M. E. Graham of Erie County and his assistant, Burton Laub, the Erie Times said today.

It was expected according to the Times, that Griffith will reveal the complete story behind the "scandal."

The Times said it had learned Griffith will name the men who, he charges, ordered him to accept gravel in excess of that specified in the contracts for the Erie district road construction.

The discharged engineer seeks vindication of the charges against him at today's conference, according to the Times.

Police Arrest Two At Stadium Here
It doesn't pay to take a sock at a detective or a policeman, whether it be delivered while the officers are making an arrest, at a football game, or in fact anywhere. At least two youths from out-of-the-city found this out last night. It cost them $5.00 to learn the lesson.

The two came here to witness the football game at Taggart Stadium and one of them became disorderly. Detective John Moore seized the youth.

As soon as he did the youth's companions delivered a "rabbit punch" a blow to the rear of Moore's neck.

The punch had no sooner been delivered than Patrolman Wayne Sines who was nearby seized Moore's assailant.

The pair were rushed from the stadium to police headquarters. They placed a forfeit of $5.00 each for a hearing. They failed to appear today.

The only guarantee of peace is for all peaceful nations to gang up on a trouble-maker before he wins a victory.

Betty Amalong Is Hostess To Class

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 9.—Miss Betty Amalong entertained members of the Little Helps class of the Immanuel Reformed church in a pleasing manner last evening at her home, on the Ellwood-New Castle road with a majority of members and their teacher, Mrs. James Mackey, attending.

An election and installation of officers was the principal business and those selected were: President, Patricia Evans; secretary, Lillian Dambach and treasurer, Betty Amalong.

Mrs. Edward Amalong was a special guest. After a social period, the hostess' mother, Mrs. Alvie Amalong served a tempting lunch.

For the next meeting, Miss Lillian Dambach will entertain the group at her home, at North Sewickley.

Irregular Prices Feature In Trading In Market During Morning

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The stock market turned irregular today with minus signs somewhat in the majority at the close. Trading was relatively slow. Price changes in most instances were of minor proportions.

Stocks were mixed at the start, with light selling being carried over from yesterday's late reaction, but before the end of the first half-hour most leaders were behind plus signs. Then the list settled into a narrow trading range, until the second hour, when modest influx of liquidation again brought an irregular trend.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem started lower, converted losses into modest gains. Then once more slipped behind minus signs in final dealings. Independent strength was displayed by the aviation and a few other so-called "war babies." Douglas and Boeing advanced more than a point but these gains were pared later.

Rails weakened mid-way through the two-hour session. Atchafalaya leading with a drop of almost two points into new low ground for the year. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Illinois Central also reached new bottoms on fractional declines.

A number of representative issues in addition to the rails reached 1937 lows. Included were Hiram Walker, National Distillers, American Radiator, Johns-Manville, Case, Swift, Goodyear, U. S. Steel preferred, Lorillard, Celanese and Lone Star Chemical.

Coppers were generally steady. American Smelting ran up more than a point at one time. B. M. T. was an active feature on the upside on a gain of a point to well above 14.

In the commodity markets, cotton continued under moderate pressure on the surprisingly large crop estimate, the staple reaching new lows for the season on small losses. Grains were firm, wheat climbing better than a cent a bushel.

NEWEST LOCOMOTIVE WILL BE PROPELLED LIKE AUTO

Newest streamliner with steam motor on each driving wheel
The most radical departure in a steam locomotive ever made appears in the design of a new passenger engine for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. This locomotive, instead of having driving rods, will have a steam motor for each driving wheel. It will be built with 16 cylinders for constant torque propulsion to produce a continuous flow of power similar to that of a multi-cylinder automobile. It is believed that it will develop 5,000 horsepower and that it will be able to handle 14 Pullman cars at 100 miles an hour. Absence of all reciprocating parts will eliminate vibration and track poundage.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Discuss Tax Readjustment

Roosevelt's Proposal May Not Mean Higher Taxes In General

MAY CORRECT INJUSTICES

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg. By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Many folk evidently see inconsistency between President Roosevelt's recent suggestion that higher taxes are not on his program for the early future and his earlier announcement that he had asked the treasury department to make a study preparatory to an overhauling of the entire federal tax structure.

It does not seem to me that such an inconsistency is necessarily implied. Those who believe that they discern it evidently take it for granted that a tax readjustment can be for no purpose other than an increase in rates.

Perhaps this conclusion is unjustified.

A taxation system may be bad, and need to be overhauled, for other reasons than that it doesn't produce sufficient funds to support the government.

BAD TAXATION BLAMED

In fact, numerous eminent economists have argued for years that our system, at most world systems, all the way from national to local taxation, ARE bad.

Throughout American history the United States has averaged a major depression about three per cent.

The average has been approximately the same in other countries, insofar as records indicate. Now, depression, even at intervals of 30 years or so, are too frequent. Indeed, why should there be ANY?

Something obviously is faulty in our economic mechanism, or they would not occur and recur.

Our best economists blame bad taxation for these persistent waves.

IN PIONEER DAYS

Long, long ago, when I was a lad, I had a great-uncle who was a California 49'er in his day.

"When I lived on the coast," he told me, "anybody who could stand the wear and tear could take up a gold claim and, with ordinary luck, pan out $6 or $7 a day. It wasn't much (there weren't many bonanzas) but it was a living."

"So, when wages in town tried to fall below $6 or $7 a day, all hands said: 'We quit. We'll go out and pan gold.'"

"It was better than any union. It was automatic."

"CURE" BY TAXATION?

"But as time passed," continued my great-uncle, "a few individuals gobbled up claims wholesale. There no longer was an outlet from the cities—and industrial trouble set in."

"I don't contend," my great-uncle agreed, "that those claim acquirers should have been denied the right to buy claims, but they should have been taxed on their claims' value—to keep them down to reason and permit new prospectors to horn in."

"In short," argued my great-uncle, "land, whether mining claims or farms or city property (they all are in the same class) ought not to be over-monopolized."

"Taxation can stop it. Nothing else can."

"It all," my great-uncle insisted, "it all gets down to LAND. It is as important as water or air."

TWO DIFFERENT MATTERS

This, of course, is the old Single Tax doctrine. I do not know that President Roosevelt adheres to it.

Probably he does not, or he would say so.

Basically, however, he does not have to mean higher taxes when he asks for a readjustment.

He means, maybe, a fairer rate. And possibly, or certainly, perhaps, it would mean an end of depressions.

Thus, tax readjustment and a tax increase perhaps are two very different things.

Give Income Facts For New Castle Families

By ARTHUR C. WIMER (Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 9.—Native white families of New Castle containing both husband and wife, received an average income of $1,233 during the year 1935-36, United States Commissioner of Labor Statistics Lubin reported today.

Commissioner Lubin's report was based on a special study of New Castle conducted by the Bureau of Labor Statistics as a W.P.A. project.

Such investigations were made in selected towns nation over. The surveys dealt primarily with native white families, containing both husband and wife, but gave some slight attention to other types.

Of native white families with both husband and wife in New Castle, one-half received incomes lower than $1,233 median. Families which received relief at some time during the year, together with those which had incomes under $1,000 accounted for 36.9 per cent of the New Castle total of families.

Wage earners, according to Commissioner Lubin, were the largest occupational group in the town and received the lowest median income. They made up 43.7 per cent of the families and received a median income of $1,354. Independent professional families, on the other hand, made up 1.9 per cent of the total and had the highest median income—$3,250.

Other classifications of New Castle families, according to percentage of total and median income, were recorded as follows: salaried professional, 3.6 per cent of the total, median salary of $2,208; salaried business, 4.8 per cent of the total, median salary of $2,413; independent business, 9.4 per cent of the total, median salary of $1,588; clerical, 13.1 per cent of the total, median salary of $1,648.

20 Per Cent on Relief Then

Of the New Castle families, 21.1 per cent received relief and 78.9 per cent did not receive relief payments during the year.

In comparing the income distribution among non-relief wage earners, families with that of non-relief families in other occupational groups, it was found that 24 per cent of the wage earners families had incomes under $1,000, 58 per cent had incomes between $1,000 and $2,000, and 18 per cent had incomes of $2,000 or more. Only two per cent of the salaried professional and business families had incomes under $1,000, 36 per cent had incomes between $1,000 and $2,000, whereas the remainder, 62 per cent had incomes of $2,000 and over. Of the independent professional families 79 per cent had incomes of $2,000 or over, whereas the independent business families were found largely among the New Castle groups with incomes under $2,000. The income distribution of the independent business group was more comparable to that of clerical families. Thirty-two per cent of the independent business group and 30 per cent of the clerical group had incomes of $2,000 or more. Their median incomes were $1,588 and $1,648 respectively.

Almost 84 per cent of the income of New Castle families was contributed by the chief breadwinner, who was the husband in 96.5 per cent of the cases. Supplementary earnings contributed an average of 5.6 per cent of the family income. On the average less than one family in ten had a supplementary earner, but these earners were more frequent in the upper income brackets than in the lower. For example, the number of earners per family increased from 1.07 in the income bracket $1,000-1,250 to 1.31 in the income group $4,000 to $5,000.

Family Incomes

Families included not only the earnings of the chief breadwinner and other family members, but also income from other channels, including, for example, interest and dividends. Money from such sources constituted 4.6 per cent of the family income among professional and business families, but only 1.3 per cent among wage earners.

The average rent paid by non-relief families was $21.70 and absorbed 17.7 per cent of their total income. In each occupational group there was a general trend toward higher rents as incomes mounted.

The higher rents, however, represented a smaller share of the income. Over 53.4 percent of the income of those getting less than $500 went for rent whereas only 7.5 percent of the income of those receiving $5,000 or more was devoted to this expenditure.

Forty-six percent of the non-relief families owned their own homes. Each occupational group home ownership tended to increase with income; over ninety percent of all families receiving $5,000 or more were home owners.

"Size of family as well as size of income is an important criterion of economic welfare, for it gives a general picture of the share of the family's income which each member receives," the report said. "In New Castle, the smaller income of the families which received relief had to be shared by a larger number of persons than the higher incomes of the non-relief families. Relief families averaged 4.2 members as compared with an average of 3.6 members in non-relief families."

The bureau found that foreign born families of New Castle, including those with and without both husband and wife, received a median income of $928.

CASILLO DEFENDS EAGLE AS SYMBOL OF U. S. LIBERTY

The American Nature Association at Washington, D. C., has come to New Castle for an authoritative opinion on the "good or evil" of the bald eagle, the bird which is the living symbol of American liberty and freedom.

When all sorts of stories about the bald eagle battling wildcats and carrying off children started making the rounds again, that association decided to look into it on a credit-or-discredit-it basis. They sought opinions.

Nicholas R. Casillo, senior high instructor and long-time observer of the eagle, was one of the first to reply. Casillo, in a detailed reply, discredits the stories.

Newspapers and magazines have carried the lengthy opinion, his findings of a study of others who have watched the bird, and which closed:

"Why not give the bird that was chosen as our national emblem a chance? Even if he were as destructive as he is pictured by some, then would still be excellent reasons for the preservation of the living symbol of our liberty and freedom because it is a fitting symbol."

Rainfall Light During September

Precipitation Below Normal During Month, With Temperature Also Less

September's rainfall was 31 of an inch below normal, while the temperature showed a deficiency of 4.5 degrees per day during the month, the figure of U. S. Weather Observer B. P. Johnson reveal.

September was thus one of the few months of the year when the precipitation has been below the normal mark. In July and August it was two inches or more above the normal, while June was practically normal.

The mean maximum temperature for the month was 72.7 degrees, the mean minimum 47 degrees, and the mean average 59.9 degrees. The normal temperature for September is 64.4 degrees, the deficiency being 4.5 degrees. The highest temperature was 87 degrees on the first day of the month and the lowest was 33 on the 27th. The greatest daily range was 35 degrees on the 22nd.

The total precipitation was 2.70 inches, two inches of which fell on the 4th, the greatest in 24 hours. Days with .01 inches or more of precipitation were 16, days clear 14, partly cloudy 11, and cloudy 5. The normal precipitation for September is 3.01 inches.

In 1936 there was a deficiency of 80 inches in precipitation, and an excess of 22 degrees in temperature. The highest temperature in 1936 during September was 94 degrees and the lowest was 37 degrees.

Opening the season of the Civic Music Association, Ezio Pinza, bass-baritone of the Metropolitan Opera company will appear in the Senior high school auditorium in concert.

Pinza has a voice that has carried him to the top of the musical ladder since coming to the United States after the World War. He has an unusual range, at times invading the realm of the tenors and at others plumbing the depths of the basso.

His concert is the first of a group of three that will be presented this year. It is an auspicious opening for what looks to be an attractive seasonal offering.

Falling Securities Market No Cause For Fear Says Jones

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—"Fear" regarding the falling securities market is unwarranted, in the opinion of Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, today.

Addressing the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks, he said the country has "seldom been more prosperous," and that banks had never been so sound because of deposit insurance and a flexible federal reserve system. He added:

"Industry is employing more people at better wages, and will soon adjust itself to increased wages and higher costs. We have not caught up with six years of neglected construction and there is no shortage of buying power."
